Beckergate? A gate?

I am trying to start a podcast where people who are on different sides of an issue can sit down and talk. I have filed a DBA and a trademark to do so. I think it would be a positive thing to improve our public debate. Getting trademarks and names can be hard sometimes but in this case, the names I filed were not being used by any existing business or non-profit or campaign finance group or registered lobbyist or any other legal entity I could find. I am still sorting out next steps on this podcast.
